STAT

Area of Coverage: China-Northeast, Kirin, Liaotung, Heilungkiang Provinces

Subjects Covered: Agricultural producer cooperatives; regimentation of peasants through mutual aid teams and producer cooperatives.

Scholarship Evaluation: Competently edited collection of reports

Review: Ten model reports show the transformation of agricultural mutual aid groups into agricultural producer cooperatives. Reports cover the history, organizational procedure, administration and problems of the agricultural producer cooperatives. Reports show how a producer cooperative is organized, how shares in the cooperatives are calculated, how the dividends are paid, and the basis for dividend distribution.

Reports indicate the trend of collectivization of agriculture in the Communist economy, since each of the ten cooperatives was originally a mutual aid group which was reorganized into a cooperative through the efforts of party members and cadres.
